Lyndon Group Adds Practice Area: IT Leadership Services

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. – July 27, 2009 – Lyndon Group (www.Lyndon-Group.com), a premier accounting, finance, information technology and corporate governance professional services firm specializing in project-based engagements, has announced the addition of a new practice area: Information Technology (IT) Leadership Services.

Responding to the growing need for cost effective and efficient IT leadership in middle market and emerging growth businesses, Lyndon Group's new practice area helps clients ensure that IT is supporting a business's strategic and tactical plans. Compiled of former CIO & Director of IT level professionals, Lyndon Group brings consistent, sophisticated intellectual capital and hands-on resources to companies that do not need a full time, high-level, IT staff member but would benefit from IT strategy mapping.

Elements of Lyndon Group's IT Leadership Services programs include:

- Communication with the CEO and CFO/Controller to understand the business's plans for growth
- Assessment of the current state of the IT environment and associated business goals
- Alignment of relevant IT initiatives to support business goals
- Management of IT staff to remedy IT structure issues

“In this current business environment, the need to ensure that your business plan is supported by your IT resources is critical, and having a strong IT leader is crucial to success,” said Ruth Horaczko, Practice Leader, Lyndon Group. “Lyndon Group’s IT Leadership Services can not only ensure that IT supports the strategic and tactical plans of the business but can also provide cost-effective technical expertise.”

Lyndon Group’s practice areas span a wide range of sophisticated business areas including: accounting, finance IT, governance, risk and compliance.
